Athlete Leadership Summit

Ali Bragg read the mission and vision statement and called us to order. The first thing on the agenda was athlete committee participation. Ali said that communication, attendance, and participation are important. Mary Ellen mentioned that right now we only have five people who aren't on the athlete committee signed up for the leadership summit. McKayla Kendall said that she reached out to a few people about attending the summit. Mary Ellen asked us each to reach out to a few people about the summit. Maria Saltysiak and Abby Hollis said that they have asked a few people. Ali Bragg discussed the format of the leadership summit. Ethan Schulz, Abby Hollis, Emma Farnham, and Ali Bragg all agreed to be a part of the athlete panel. Kristy Barry joined the meeting and said that she will think about joining the panel. Noah said that he has asked a few people on KVVY about the summit. Ali talked about moving up the summit by half an hour. Abby Hollis said that she reached out to the coaches about the leadership summit. Ethan Schulz said that he is going to reach out to the coaches to see if their swimmers are interested in committees. Mary Ellen said that she is going to start mailing out the caps soon starting with non committee members.

MAAPP 2.0

Mary Ellen said that we need to have another athlete and adult member. Also making sure that we are keeping communication during the correct hours.

Andrew Seliskar Meet

We need some volunteers to help out on Sunday November 7th until the meet is over. We would help the swimmers in the clinic and at the meet. Mary Ellen said that the volunteers could help in the morning and most likely race in the afternoon too. The age range is 11 and over. It is open to USA swimmers (get priority) and YMCA swimmers. Emma Farnham suggested doing something live on our instagram to get the word out about the summit and clinic.

McKayla Kendall suggested recognizing people for accomplishments outside of the pool.

To Do List:

- Figure out who is going to do the live takeover
- Emma Farnham is going to create a google form for people to share their accomplishments out of the pool
- Post about records, national scholastic athletes, and Ethan Smith going to the national convention
- McKayla Kendall is going to email Jim and Sponge about being on the panel at the summit
- Ethan Schulz is going to work on getting people involved in committees
