

Operational Risk Report

This year there were five reported cases of COVID-19 in teams located in Southern Maine. These athletes were removed from their practice groups immediately, resulting in no other athletes around them getting sick.

There was one incident of a swimmer collapsing due to a suspected seizure in the locker rooms. The lifeguard found her there and called 911. This athlete had previous events of unconsciousness and probably should have had a buddy in the locker room with them because of that.

An extensive warm up rules and regulations document is being created for Maine Swimming to follow at all future meets.
