LSC Spotlight

Pacific is hosting a D&I camp on November 6. As part of the camp they are hosting a free public water safety day and free lesson on November 5. The camp will be held in Richmond CA, and will be open to up to 80 athletes. Manny Banks will be speaking to the Summit participants, and Olympian Bill Woolsey from Hawaii will be speaking to the athletes.

Pacific Swimming awarded the annual Diversity Award to San Francisco Rec and Park, for their support of the Pacific Swimming Diversity Programs. James Wheeler and SF Rec and Park donated the MLK Pool for the LSC Diversity Camp for 3 straight years.

Convention highlights

At D&I hot topics Anthony Ervin said, "If you aren't working toward inclusion, you are working toward exclusion."

At the D&I Business meeting they discussed outreach and will be making recommendations to the LSCs on what to use for future outreach. They are also working on updating the original D&I manual.

The highlight was hearing Schuyler Bailar speak. He talked about not making assumptions and if you have a question, ask. He also said. "Otherness is the most toxic thing in the world"
