

Fun-ger Games

THE REAPING

The first thing we did when the kids arrived was have everyone register for the reaping. I made these little slips of paper where they signed their name and used a red ink pad to give us a "blood" sample thumb print. Then they were folded and secured with black tape.

DISTRICT THEME & TOKEN

District teams must create a theme for their district. Examples: "mining, water, lumber, fishing, etc." Then they must design a very simple token to represent their team.

CORNUCOPIA

Put a ton of little marshmallows in the middle. Have the district teams be in a circle around the center. Team members must run in and pick up marshmallows with chopsticks put back into team bowl

SCAVENGER HUNT

Each tribute team enters the arena. The arena is whatever you choose for a playing field. Teams must search for the hidden survival cards. The survival card includes food, water, gear, med kits, shelters, and weapons. Each card has a different point value

SPEAR THROW

Throw toothpicks in a bowl, most in

ARCHERY CONTEST

Hang hula hoops from trees and have guests take turns trying to throw pull-buoys through the hoops. You can have one hoop or you can have hoops hung at different distances and heights. Let each tribute have a certain amount of tries (maybe five) and give them a point for everyone they make. The person with the most points wins. If there is a tie, they can have a tie breaker.

HAND TO HAND COMBAT

Two opponents face off each holding a plastic mixing spoon with an orange in it. The object of the game is to knock your opponents orange out of their spoon without losing yours. Set up a bracket for all the players, and face two off at a time.

TRACKER JACKER SHAKE-OFF

Ping pong balls in kleenex box, attach to hips and must shake them out.

SPONSOR COINS

Get cheap plastic colored coins. Mark different colors with different point values. Spread out in pool and then kids must recover them from the bottom and put them in their district bowls.

POISON BERRY

Need a few dozen small balloons. Before inflating each balloon you will place a slip of paper inside. Most of the slips will have the poison symbol on it, five of them will have a mockingbird symbol. Create a pile of the balloons on one side of the playing area. Explain to players that in order to survive in the arena they might have to live off berries, but if they choose the wrong berries they are gone. Then tell them that only 5 players will survive this game. (if you have less guests at your party you can use less balloons and less mockingjay cards). On the start of go all players rush to the balloon pile and start popping the balloons. The players that return with the mockingjay cards are the winners.

CARDS to PRINT OUT:

<http://www.queen-of-theme-party-games.com/support-files/poison-berry-game.pdf>

BLOW DARTS

Give each player a chance to try and blow mini marshmallows out of a 1 foot length of ½ inch PVC pipe. You can find the pipe at your home depot or other hardware store. Set up plastic cups with different point values written on the outside of them with a marker. Give each player one minute to blow as many marshmallows into the cups as they can. Add up the score at the end. The player with the highest score wins. Instead of cups you can use the hula hoops again from the archery game.

TARGET PRACTICE

Have tributes try and shoot ping pong balls off the tops of golf tees or two liters with a water gun. Push gold tees into Styrofoam block or set up about five two liters in a row with lids removed. Balance ping pong balls on top. Purchase the mini water guns from your local dollar store and let the tributes shoot until all the water is gone from their gun. Don't forget to have a bucket of water nearby for gun refills.

TRACKER JACKER TAG

First we had the girls be the tracker jackers that chased the boys, then the boys got to be the tracker jackers in the next round. Tracker jackers were each given a few sheets of simple circle stickers and had to run around chasing the tributes putting as many stickers on them as possible! At end of each round, the tribute with the fewest "stings" won a prize.