

I'm currently a sophomore at Dartmouth College and I'm majoring in Politics, Philosophy, and Economics (PPE) with a minor in Italian. Outside of the classroom I'm swimming, tutoring in French and Italian, and I have joined a student owned and operated business. Because Dartmouth is located in rural New Hampshire, I spend a lot of time outdoors hiking, skiing, and playing recreational hockey and soccer. This fall I will (COVID-19 permitting) be studying abroad in Milan, Italy where I will live with a host family and enroll in Italian and Economics courses at Bocconi University.